with Sally

● "Oh, John dear," we called, as we heard the front door bang shut. "You're just in time to mail these Christmas cards."

● John sighed wearily, flopped on the studio couch, and eyed us in a defiant manner. "I don't know what you women do all day," he stated. "I work myself to death at the office and then come home to what? Running errands! Nothing doing, babe. Mail them yourself."

● The "babe" part got us. Anything we hate, is to be called "babe." Arising slowly but determinedly, we crossed the room to the couch, placed a firm thumb and forefinger on John's nearest ear, and with our burden in tow, marched out the front door.

● "Where are you taking me and what's the idea?" John wanted to know.

● "You wondered what we women did all day, and you're going to find out right now." And with that we bundled him into the car for his first real "errand tour."

● Our first stop was Edward's Drug Store, where we made John get out and pick up the prescription for Sammy's cold, and also some extra Christmas tree lights. Then to Robertson's Egg Store, where John was forcibly induced (by us) to select our week-end breakfast supplies.

● In the space of an hour, John was worth his own weight in packages! We led him to the car where he extricated himself from his first load. Vegetables from Cut Rate Market, sirloin steaks from Milo's Market, the latest records from Byrne Radio, fresh fruit from Lucca Ravioli, milk from Mission Creamery, a picnic ham from Farmer's Meat company, our weekly cleaned clothes from Beeson Cleaners, a Daly City theater scrip-book, a new bus-schedule, a poinsettia from the Bungalow Nursery—all accounted for.

● We got through checking the packages and looked up for John. He had vanished! Playing a hunch we stepped around the corner to the Hilltop Lodge. Sure enough, there was John.

● "I was making our reservations for New Year's Eve, dear," he blustered. "I was coming right out again."

● We said nothing. After all, actions are better than words. John hadn't really seen a big load of packages. Back to our car and off on the second leg of our journey, while John sank down in the seat and grumbled something about "woman's easy life."

● John staggered to the car under the influence of—packages for the second time. This round we had gathered a portable radio from Charlie's Radio Shop for Sammy, some Italian pastry from the Geneva Bakery, a box of oranges from Westlake Market, a case of whiskey (for our friends, not John) from Lucca Ravioli's huge stock, a gallon of olive oil from Casentini's Jefferson Market and a Christmas tree! In addition, we had picked up a bed of plants for our garden from the Daly City Nursery.

● John sank down in the seat (Continued on Page 2)

Journey's End

When the steamship Edna, reputed to be the oldest passenger ship in the world, was making its final trip from Melbourne, Australia, Septimus Dandy, who for 35 years had been its quartermaster, stepped to the bridge to bid the captain farewell, collapsed and died in a few minutes.

Mystery of Lake's Color

A score of scientists have arrived at Ivrea, Italy, to try to solve the mystery of a lake which changed in color from blue to red overnight. Lake Sirio, one of a group of seven lakes in the Ivrea region, not only turned redder and redder hour by hour, but it also became much "spikier."

once more and we were on our way home. Well, we thought to ourselves, this should cure him.

• "You know, Sally," John said after dinner. "You never did tell me what you women do with your time all day."

• P. S. We'll probably be speaking again by Christmas day. Or maybe we'll relent if he takes us to the Druid's whist party, Thursday.

Beginnings of Kindergarten

Maria Montessori, the Italian educator, studied at the University of Rome and graduated in medicine in 1894, being the first woman in Italy to do so. She then took up the subject of educating defective children. From the experience thus acquired, she came to the conclusion that similar methods might be applied to normal children of a lower age, and after a series of experiments on a small scale she extended them to a large number of children in private and public nursery schools in Rome. Her ideas on education have been set forth in several books which have been widely translated.

Song Bird Club

Late in the eighties the Portland (Ore.) Song Bird club, a society for the introduction of useful song birds, was founded. This organization raised considerable money and imported many birds between 1888 and 1907. It nearly succeeded in establishing the skylark in the neighborhood of that city between 1889 and 1908. The species certainly bred in the neighborhoods of Portland, Salem and Gresham, and existed for 20 or 30 years. The bureau believes that one of these colonies is thriving at the present time.

Household News By Eleanor Howe

Children Need Parties Too

With all the holiday festivities for grown folks and for older sisters and brothers, it's not strange that the youngest members of the family beg for a party, too!

Children's parties must be colorful, the entertainment simple, and the refreshments very light. If the party is to be a success (and why give one if it isn't?) the activities of the youngsters must be wisely directed from the moment they arrive, until they leave.

Choose, to direct the entertainment, the wisest, jolliest, child-loving adult you know. Plan games that are simple, and make sure that all the children are included. Remember, too, that children weary quickly of any one activity, so plan a variety of games and get the new one under way before interest in the old one vanishes.

Party refreshments, of course, must be geared to the age of the guests. If they are very young, it's a good idea to serve the feast at the end of the party, so that it takes the place of the regular evening meal.

Decorate the table with snapping crackers, colored balloons, and peppermint canes to give a really festive setting for the occasion.

Mix egg yolk with small amount of milk in top of double boiler.

Add quick-cooking tapioca, candies, salt and remaining milk.

Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 10 to 12 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently.

Remove from fire. (Tapioca will be well distributed throughout, but mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Beat egg white until just stiff enough to hold shape.

Fold hot tapioca mixture gradually into egg white. Cool—mixture thickens as it cools. Chill.

Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish.

"THE RAINS CAME" IS SPECTACULAR FILM STARRING MYRNA LOY AND TYRONE POWER

Tyrone Power and Myrna Loy

All the color and pageantry of India are caught in the spectacular climax of Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," the great Louis Bromfield novel, starring Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent, which is now showing at the Daly City theatre.

The scene shows the coronation as Maharajah of the high-caste Hindu, Major Rama Safti, played by Power, in the glittering setting of a sumptuous palace, and includes fireworks, elephant maneuvers and all the other features of this dazzling ceremony.

Although the Bromfield novel ends with Safti about to ascend the throne, and the Twentieth Century-Fox film is meticulously faithful to the story, Zanuck decided to add this stirring sequence in order to provide his production with a climax as thrilling as the many great spectacles which highlight it—the earthquake, the torrential rains, the dam break, the flood, the fire.

Myrna Loy plays the amorous Lady Esketh in "The Rains Came," while George Brent is cast as the world-weary Tom Ransome.

Companion feature on the new bill is "Streets of New York," starring Jackie Cooper.

baking powder, and salt; add alternately with the milk and vanilla. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the cake. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for approximately 15 to 20 minutes.

Grilled Bacon Sandwiches.

Remove crusts from slices of bread and toast bread on one side only. Spread untoasted side with peanut butter and top with slices of bacon. Preheat broiler to 350 degrees. Place sandwiches on broiler rack, $\frac{3}{4}$ inches from flame. Broil until bacon is crisp and brown, approximately 7 minutes. Serve very hot.

Sugared Doughnuts.

4 eggs
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons shortening (melted)
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 cups cake flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat the eggs until light. Add sugar slowly and continue beating until foamy. Add melted shortening and vanilla extract. Mix and sift two cups of flour and all the other dry ingredients and fold into the egg mixture.

Add just enough more flour to make a soft dough which can be handled. Place on lightly floured board and roll dough out to $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thickness. Cut, and fry in deep fat (370 degrees) and drain on unglazed paper.

Hot Spiced Cider.

3 quarts cider
1 cup brown sugar
1 six-inch stick cinnamon
6 whole cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
Add spices and sugar to cider, place in kettle and let simmer over heat (not boil) for 15 minutes. Strain and serve hot in small glasses. Add a little grated nutmeg.

Electric Outlets Needed For Kitchen Efficiency

When electric outlets are being planned in a new house for lamps, clocks, and radios, the kitchen is often neglected. In reality, it has more uses for plugs than any other room.

Within reasonable limits, there cannot be too many appliance outlets in the kitchen. In this room electricity is used both for lighting and for motivating power. Consumption of current varies widely with kitchen appliances, and special attention should be given to the load the outlet is expected to carry.

Beri-Beri and Rice

The disease beri beri, which is common throughout the Orient, is caused by deficiencies in the common diet of polished rice.
